SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

ON September the sixth, nineteen and eighteen, twenty-four, "green but growing" freshmen, assembled in the halls of Edray District High School and were placed in the tender care of our Principal, Victor E. G. Emory. We were dismissed, shortly after school opened, for several weeks on account of "flu". During this time death claimed one of the most faithful members of our class, Thelma Young.

We soon received our initiation and then turned our energies unreservedly to the solving of the problems which were assigned to us. The remainder of our freshman year was passed pleasantly and uneventfully.

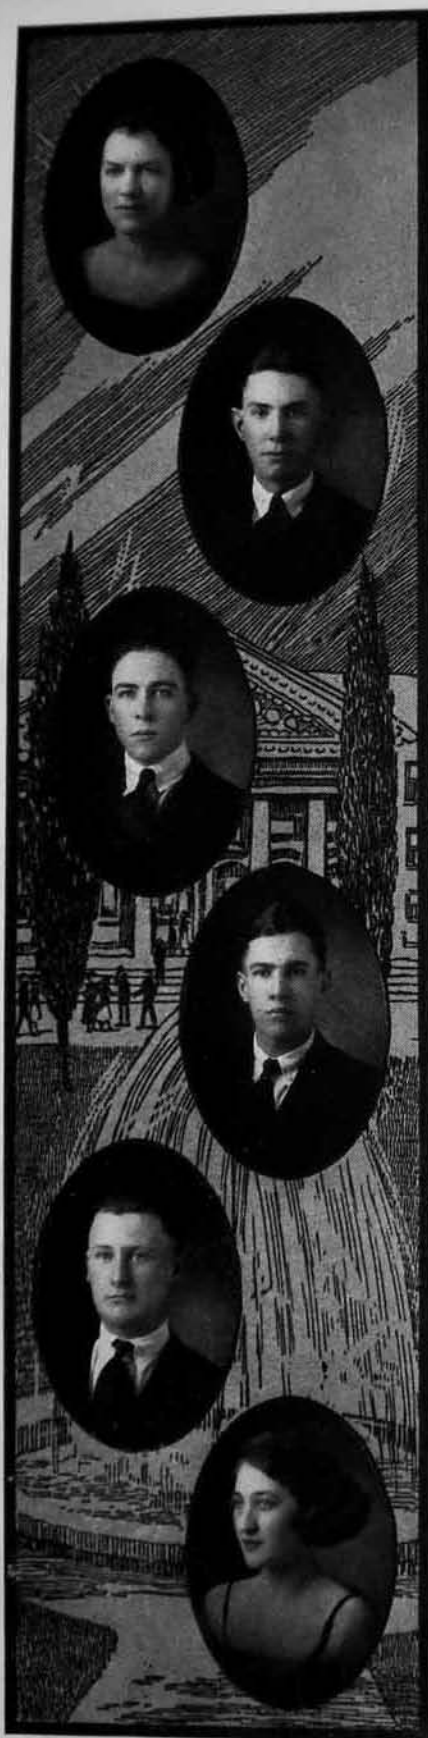

Our Sophomore and Junior years can be compared to the great under current of a stream, moving silently but accomplishing great things. One of the most important events of this period was the coming of our new principal, Mr. Ramsey, in our Sophomore year. He has been with us during the three remaining years of our high school career, and has done much to help us gain the goal we are now so near.

All the while we were looking forward anxiously to the day that we might be called seniors.

At last on September twelfth, nineteen and twenty-one, we were called together as seniors, and found that we numbered twenty-three—thirteen of whom had entered with us as freshmen. We selected as class officers, President, Arnout Yeager; Vice-President, Oleta Gay; Secretary and Treasurer, Pauline Smith.

All members of the class this year possess unusual ability. We will take active parts in the school plays and track meet this year as we have done before. The Seniors have furnished a good portion of the material for our football team which has beaten several of the best teams in the state.

On June second we will leave our schoolmates and our dear old school to enter into the activities of the outside world, but we will leave feeling that Edray District High School has given us good preparation for our future. In our memories it will hold a lasting place and will cheer us in our hours of failure, if such we have.

SENIOR WILL

County of Pocahontas }
State of W. Va. } To-Wit

WE the Senior Class of Nineteen hundred and Twenty-two, of Edray District High School in the City of Marlinton, County of Pocahontas, State of West Virginia, being of sound mind and judgment, do hereby make, declare, and publish this, our last will and testament

We do hereby will and bequeath our complexions, talents, personalities, and other things too numerous to mention.

Pauline Smith wills her rosy cheeks gained by the love of the outdoors only, her lips that have never yet mingled with the sweet to her sincere friend, Helen Burner. Directions: "Handle with care, as a flower retains its beauty only through careful attention."

Gertrude Overholt, bequeaths her blonde hair and rosy cheeks, together with her great stature and love for the boys, to her dear friend, Ottie Lang.

Florence Howard, gives her solemn expression and manner of silence, like the Buckeye tree that grows on the bonnie banks of the Greenbrier, to her sincere friend, Ernestine Hall.

Lucille Gibson, wills her love for the birds, especially the screech owl, to the girls of the Junior Class.

Edmonia Gibson, who hails from Elk, believing still that the Barlow cutlery is the best in the shop, wills this brand to the prospective house wives of the Junior Class.

Mary Bailey leaves her strong will, that always brings success, to the Junior Class.

Oleta Gay bequeaths her winning smile and gentle nature to the dear girls of the Junior Class.

Ila East wills her ability to work on the Remington to the girls of the Junior Class.

Ward McNeill bequeaths his commanding personality, love and admiration for the G. O. P., his convincing power of speech to his friend Tom Yeager. But his lasting affection for curls he begs to retain.

Van Poage wills his winning smile, and hair like a raven's wing, to his dear friend John Mann.

Vernon East gives his stubby stature, Websterian head, love and fascination for the pool room and movies, to his good friend Clark Carter.

Craig Richardson wills his small stature and activity of limb, love for the girls, a line for the teachers, to his shamrock, Mike O'Farrell.

Meade McNeill gives his Wallace Reid smile and neat stature to the Junior Boys.

Dock Hannah, believing that a "soft answer turneth away wrath," wills his fear of girls to the boys of the Junior Class.

Guy Bambrick, with his wonderful power of oratory, and pleasing personality, wills his love for English IV to his beloved friend, "Skinny" Kinnison.

Claude Collins wills his love for the Freshmen to the boys of the Junior Class.

Gray McLaughlin with his love for curls and rosy cheeks, wills his skill as high jumper to Tom Yeager.

Ewell Wiley bequeaths his zeal for learning to the Juniors, hoping it will prove of value to them in their efforts to graduate.

Dallas McKeever, with his melancholy disposition and erratic personality, leaves the value of the above mentioned to his freshmen friend, Juanita Shinaberry.

Theodore Cooper wills his congenial smile and small stature to his freshmen friend, Madge Eskridge

Arnout Yeager, with his powerful physique and four years experience on the gridiron, leaves the above stated to his friend, Walter Mason. And last, but not least, "put his little shoes away".

Hubert Slaven wills all of his love for the gridiron and ball diamond to his dear friend, Guy Yeager. He solemnly hopes, however, to retain his love for auburn hair.

John Bessling, with his voice of baritone and stature like Goliath of old, with his love and admiration for the foot lights, together with his "darned socks", leaves all to his friend, Guy Yeager.

To Miss Carden, we give our voices blended with harmony. To Miss Tyree, our foreign tongues. To Miss Kimmel, our drop stitches and bias bindings. To Mrs. Overholt, our polished speech. To Mrs. Echols, our courteous manners. To Miss See, our spencerian pens and lilac perfume. To Mr. Ramsey, our good will. To Mr. Killingsworth, all our blocks and planes, with which to shape the Freshmen for their future in the E. D. H. S.

We hereby testify that this is the last will and testament of the class of Nineteen Hundred and Twenty-two, of Edray District High School, in the City of Marlinton, County of Pocahontas, State of West Virginia.

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

TWO weeks, and then off for a vacation in an aeroplane, since this is the common method of travel in the year of 1935.

What joy and expectancy, as I stepped into the aeroplane for my westward trip across the continent. Fifteen minutes later, how I was thrilled to find myself sailing over Roosevelt Field. I traveled and traveled never getting enough of the scenery below.

As I passed over a particularly beautiful spot, I leaned over the edge to observe it more closely, and the next I knew I was falling, falling through the cold air. I said whatever prayers were in me at the time, and was in the middle of a sentence when I landed in a peculiarly soft place. To my amazement I found I had fallen on a cloud.

In looking below me I found out I was traveling over Chicago. There I saw Oleta Gay and Gray McLaughlin on the playground of one of Chicago's leading public schools as instructors in the school.

My cloud traveled on and I saw what looked to be a familiar figure. To my amazement there was Van Poage on a large farm in Missouri and in the distance feeding the chickens was Mary Bailey with a happy smile on her face.

My cloud drifted into Mexico and the next place of interest I noticed was Mexico City. On close observation I saw, walking in a picturesque park in the heart of the city, Edmonia and Lucille Gibson, with an expression on their faces which signified that they were looking for someone,—but in vain.

As I traveled on, the air grew warmer, and while looking for something of interest I found myself traveling over Panama Canal. An ocean steamer was traveling slowly through the canal and on the deck was Hubert Slaven and his school chum Edyth Holesapple with her red hair still a noticeable feature.

The heat was getting almost unbearable and consequently I rested my eyes a few minutes. When I looked again I saw I was passing over a section of South America. In range of my vision was my old school chum Arnout Yeager managing the construction of a large bridge.

Again I noticed that I was passing over a body of water and found it to be the Atlantic Ocean, because in the distance was Freetown on the coast of Africa. After a short time I passed over the city and saw Polly Smith, a missionary, teaching a class of negroes in the shade of a clump of palm trees.

The cloud traveled over the vast stretch of the gray desert of Sahara and thence over the Red Sea and onward across the Arabian Desert until we looked down on the historic city of Bagdad. I saw Ewell Wiley and Ila East apparently on a touring trip, visiting some old ruins.

As I traveled farther inland I noticed the air was becoming more pleasant and I enjoyed my trip all the more. What should I see next but the glittering spires and domes of the Turkish capital, Constantinople. The cloud traveling low at the time I saw Vernon East speaking to crowds of natives which made me form the opinion that he was a missionary.

All of a sudden a strong wind came up; and the next I knew was passing over the Mediterranean Sea and across Italy to the beautiful city of Naples. Almost too good to see was the familiar figure of Meade McNeill pursuing, I suppose, his study of dentistry, since that had been his ambition back in the good old days at E. D. H. S.

Still going at a good speed I passed over the city of Caleo in Peru, and witnessed a bull fight, with Dallas McKeever the center of attraction, as chief bull fighter.

Passing from Berlin over northern France and then across the North Sea, the wonderful city of London came into view. What a surprise to find Gertrude Overholt, the belle of the season, as a famous actress.

What a seemingly long time it was until I arrived in good old New York, with the familiar sight of John Bessling as an electrical engineer.

From New York I passed over Washington and saw Ward McNeill as a prominent congressman, and Guy Bambrick as a prominent orator against prohibition.

Passing on over Washington, I saw Craig Richardson in a box-car on the B. & O. railroad, a hobo with his face still cheerful and contented.

Then came good old West Virginia with Charleston having Florence Howard as a prominent teacher.

I noticed the cloud was getting surprisingly low but forgot all about it when old E. D. H. S. came into sight. A loud crash, and I landed on the roof of the building, falling through into the auditorium and heard Mr. Ramsey giving announcements to the student body of good old E. D. H. S.

SENIOR CLASS POEM

First comes our President.
Arnout's his name.
Says he don't like the girls.
But he does just the same.

From Edray hails fair Oleta.
A dainty maid, demure and sweet.
She studies hard, is never blue,
And many things finds time to do.

Polly's name says she's English,
But she's blest with Irish wit.
That's why, with our principal
She makes a decided hit.

A small bright boy is Ted,
And all thru school his classes led,
For whatever he chooses his work to be
He'll be a winner, take it from me.

To be a stenographer is her aim
This fair little girl named Ila,
We're sure that she, will win great fame,
In her work as well as her smiling.

Ewell is the quiet one
Who always has his work well done,
He has hours for work and minutes for play,
And never idles his time away.

Lucile's one you'll love, to meet
And flirting with boys she can't be beat
A merry maid of many wiles,
We like her ways, also her smiles.

"Handsome" they call him, that man Gray,
And he'll be a principal some day
Shouts his commands like a teacher brave,
And about him the H. S. Girls surely rave.

Florence is an industrious girl
And a friend both true and kind,
She'll do just anything for you,
And never seems to mind.

We know Van by his walk,
He's Short and can talk
All day in the lab he toils
For there he studies soils.

Edmonia you'll like when you meet,
You'll like her all your days,
To be a friend of this girl
Is something that really pays.

Ward Kaywood McNeill, this is a name
Destined by its owner to be covered with fame,
Classes, never does he shirk;
The conclusion is: He's here to work.

Mistress Mary, quite contrary,
Of late, has become sedate;
Her lessons now have become her pals,
Tho she doesn't object to a date.

On his father's farm Dock used to work
From tasks that are hard he does not shirk,
All his work is done that way;
From this young man you'll hear some day.

Meade is tall and rather slim,
But that isn't all there is of him.
For all the girls he has a heart;
But won't love "em", in the dark.

Young Mister Dallas, blithe and fair,
With dreamy eyes to silken hair,
Some girls don't know him because he's shy,
But that's their loss you won't deny.

Hubert's strong for the ladies,
Has lots of good looks:
He's not too serious minded
And cares very little for his books.

Craigus Paynus is a cute little kid,
He stands four feet without his lid;
If he studies real hard, in time it will come
He'll be better off than the ordinary bum.

Vernon is very small and short,
But in sterling qualities is not lacking.
In work he spares no effort,
In wit and humor is not wanting.

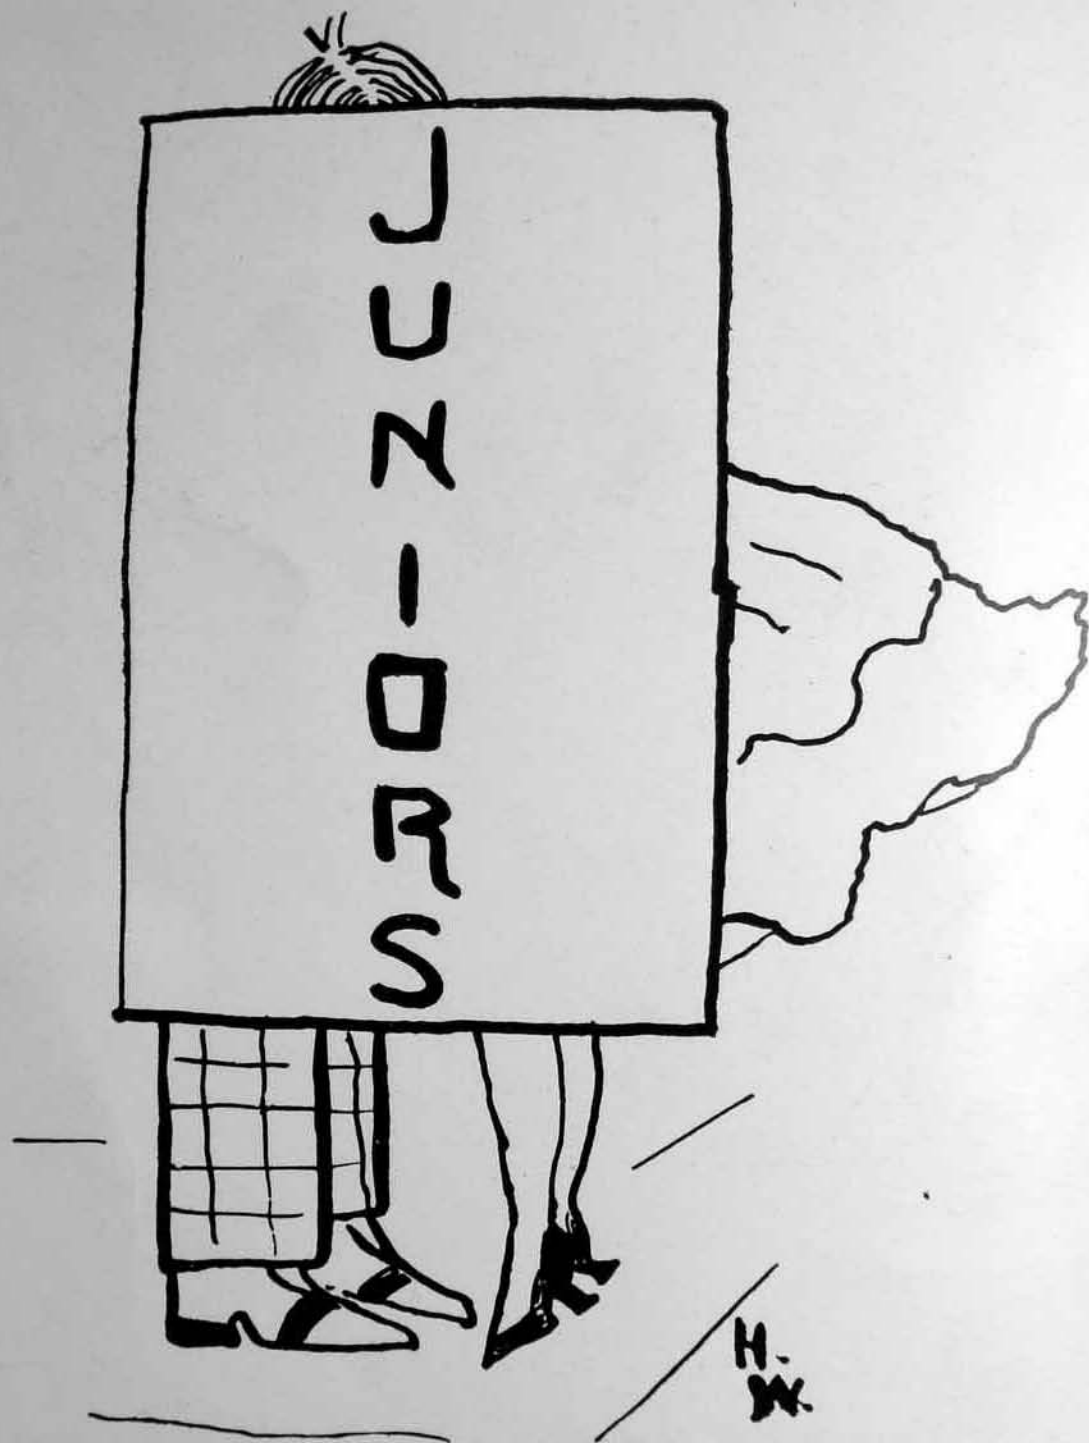

Claud likes Mary Margaret, well I should say,
He goes to her group room every day,
But if Mr. Ramsey comes his way,
He hurriedly bids his girl good-day.

Orator of this class is Guy,
Who makes good orations if he'll try;
When he says two and two make four,
We are convinced and doubt no more.

John Bessling's a princely good fellow;
He is Marlinton's kindest and best,
His voice is soft and mellow,
And in chorus he leads all the rest.

Gertie is an actress true,
Behind the footlights she's a star;
Other things, she can do
That attract admirers near and far.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

OUR class entered the Old Edray District High School in the fall of 1919 with the honor of being the largest Freshman class up to that time, but before the end of the first semester several of our members had dropped out. During this, our first year in High School, we distinctly remember our initiation. Although we were supposed to be green and untutored, we showed ourselves to be otherwise as we were prominent in athletic and dramatic activities, and by the end of our first year we had unanimously voted it a great success.

When we gathered on the campus to start on our second year as Sophomores, we found we were minus some of our best members, but with the aid of five new pupils we started out to do our best, which proved to be better than we expected. This year we continued our good work in athletics, as three of our boys made the varsity football team, and several of our members also took active parts in the school plays.

This year we are much smaller than in either of the two previous years. Much to our sorrow we found that two of our members had been lost on the sea of matrimony, some had dropped out or moved from our neighborhood, but some of the missing are completing their work in three years, and therefore are found among the members of the present Senior class. These last we hated to see go but have the satisfaction of knowing that they are graduating from Our Dear Old School. Among the important events of our Junior year was the Junior-Senior banquet which was held on St. Patrick's Day.

We sincerely hope that our class of twenty-two members strong will be back next year, and we assure all new ones who may enter as Seniors that they will be cordially welcomed into our class.

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

ALMOST two years ago we, the Freshman class of '20, entered the E. D. H. S. Tis true we bore the marks of green, untotored freshmen, but as the months passed by this was gradually diminished and we found ourselves engaged in petty quarrels with the Sophs.

These continued throughout the year, but despite this we spent many pleasant hours as Freshmen.

When we came back to start the next term as Sophomores we found that, though some of the original number had failed to come back, most of the old Freshman gang was there and ready to make the Sophomore year a big success. So far we have succeeded.

We started off by electing class officers and were extremely fortunate in having among our number "Catty" Clark, who, as a class president, cannot be excelled in the school. The other officers also have filled their respective positions to the utmost satisfaction. Then we won the prize in the Lyceum Ticket selling contest and were the only class besides the Seniors to make an average above the standard in the state spelling contest.

We were amply represented in both Athletics and Dramatic activities. Three of our members gained positions on the Football team and four had active parts in the school play.

We hope to be equally as well represented in Baseball and Track.

We have two more years to go to E. D. H. S. and if these pass by as pleasantly as the first two, the memory of our dear old school will linger in our minds for many years to come.

FOOTBALL

The football team of E. D. H. S. has shown it's superiority to any of the high school teams in this county, thus enabling us to make a good showing among the larger high schools of the state.

Among the larger schools whom we have played during the past three seasons are the following: Wheeling, Charleston, Alderson, East Bank, Ronceverte, Beckley, G. P. S. at Lewisburg, and Covington, Va.

Hydrew

BASEBALL

There is quite a lot of fine material in E. D. H. S. for a baseball team, but due to the fact that the baseball season just begins about the close of school, no inter-scholastic games of importance have been played. However, much experience and good exercise have been obtained from practicing on the diamond.

TRACK

The track team of E. D. H. S. has not yet won it's greatest honors. The season of 1920-'21, however, served to train some good men, some of whom are to show their speed this season.

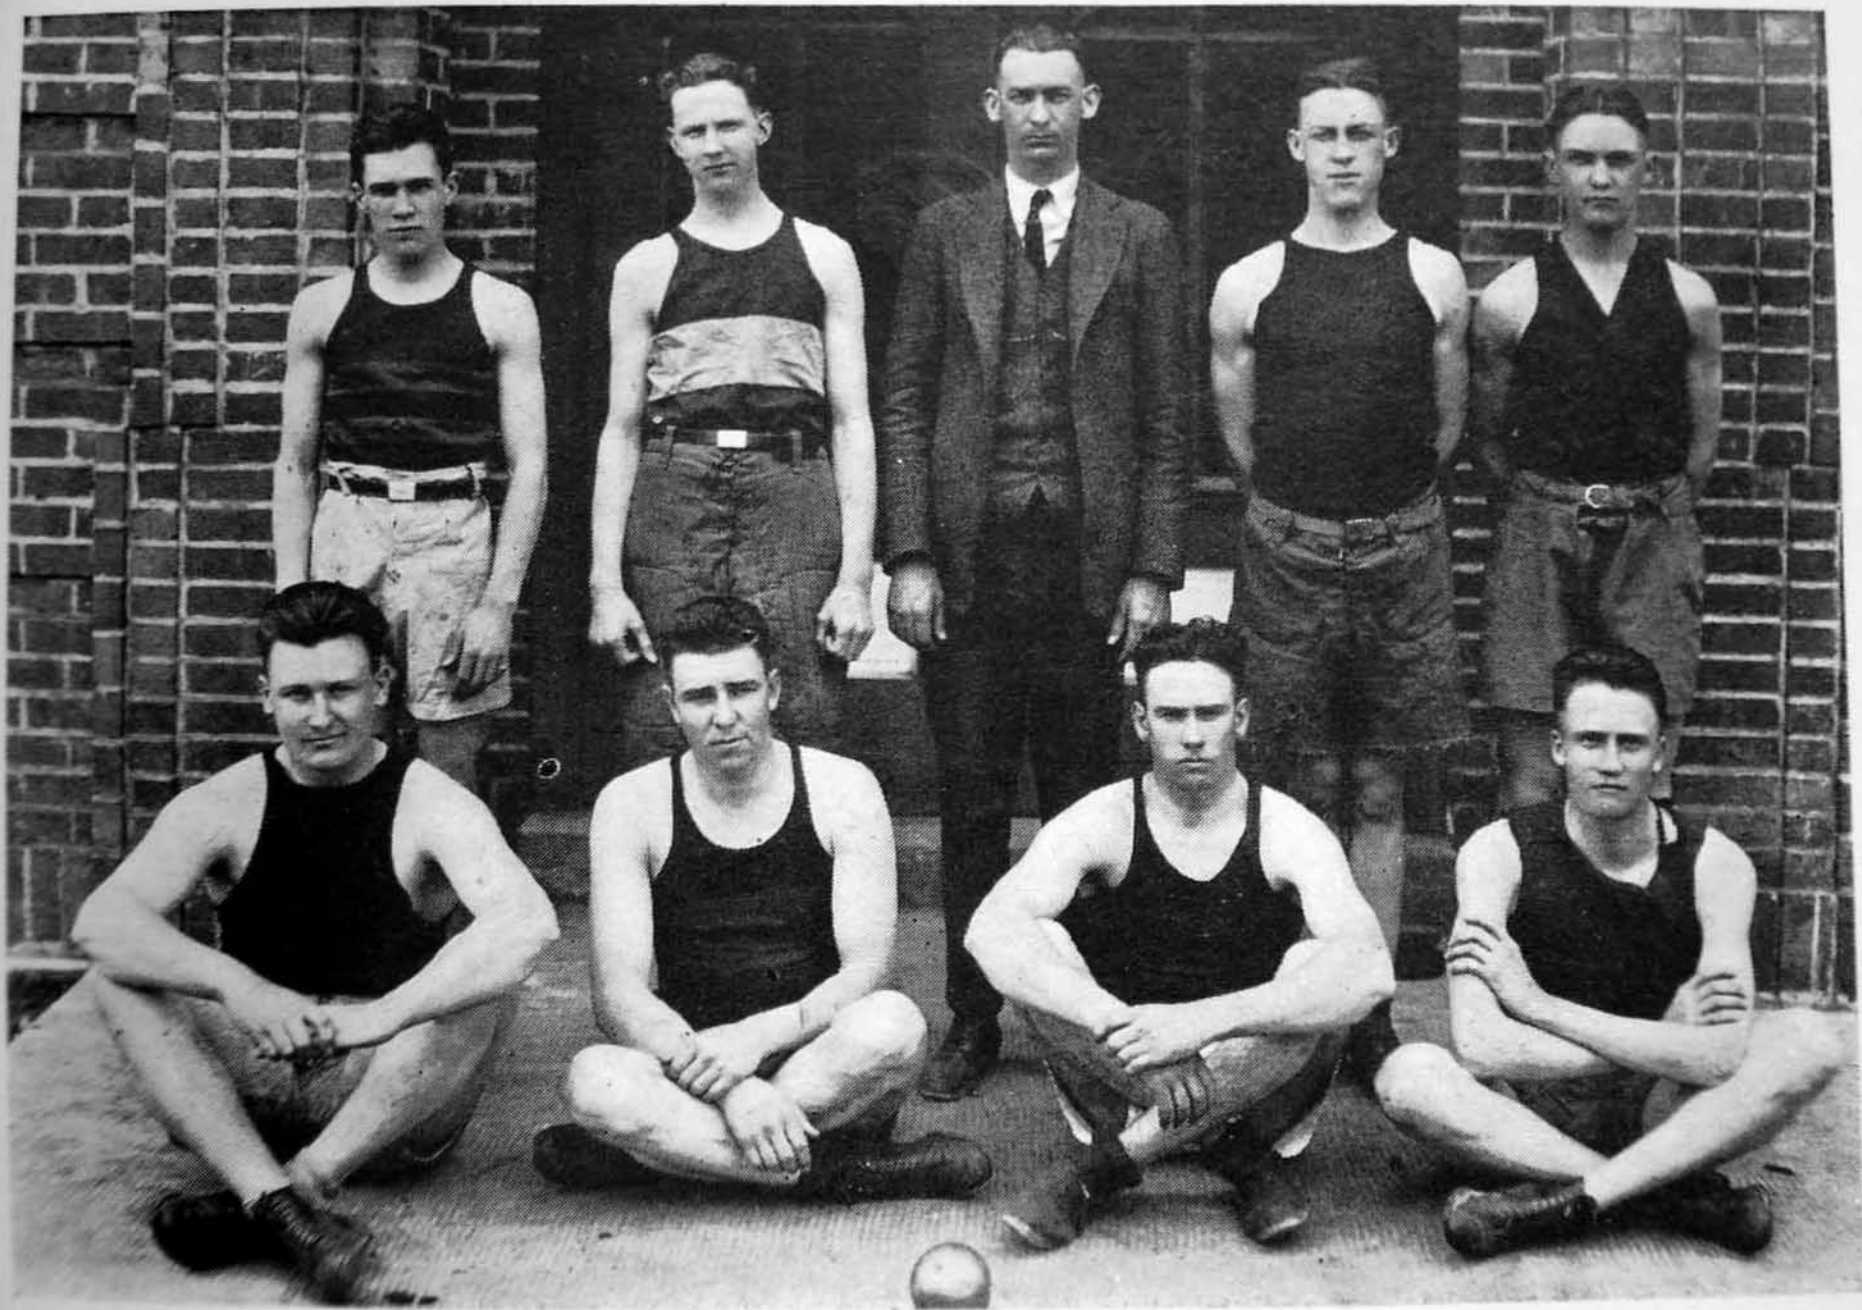

It must be remembered that old E. D. H. S. represented Pocahontas Co. in 1920, both in the Sectional Meet at Elkins, and the State Meet at Morgantown.

At the County Meet in 1921, which was held at Marlinton, a silver cup was given to the school taking the highest number of points. We were victorious, and the cup still remains in our possession. The high point men were: Haupt, McLaughlin, and Richardson, respectively. These three entered the meet at Elkins and the honors brought back were two second-place medals—one for the high jump, and the other for the javelin throw.

Prospects for the 1922 season are the brightest we have ever had. The student body seems very much interested, and quite a number of candidates are turning out for practice.

Some of the entries for this season are as follows: Collins, O'Farrel, and the Yeager brothers, for long distance races; Mann and Richardson for the dashes; Mann, A. Yeager, and McLaughlin will handle the weights. Someone will try for every event, and every one is expecting to see some of our men make some new records for E. D. H. S. this spring.

THE KISS

A kiss is a peculiar proposition,
Of no use to one, yet, absolute bliss to two.

A small boy gets it for nothing,
A young man has to steal it—
And the old man has to buy it,
It is the baby's right
The Lover's privilege,
The hypocrite's mask,
To the young girl it is Faith,
To the married woman Hope,
And to the old maid Charity.

Whiz Bang.

POLLY

My parents told me not to smoke;
I don't.

Nor listen to a naughty joke;
I don't.

They told me it was wrong to wink
At handsome men, or even think
About intoxicating drink;

I don't.
To dance or flirt was very wrong
I don't.

Wild girls chase men and wine and song;
I don't.

I kiss no men, not even one—
In fact, I don't know how it's done:
You wouldn't think I have much fun—
I don't.

Whiz Bang—

Two students, Claude Collins and Mike O'Farrell got into an argument over the hottest weather they had ever seen.

Mike: "Do you know, one time in Virginia we planted peanuts on our farm and we harvested fresh roasted peanuts".

Collins: "That's nothing. One time with a friend I took a car ride. When we got out in the farming district it was so hot that the corn popped on the cob and filled the sky so that the cows thought that it was snowing and froze to death".

ARCOLA

The hot-water heating-system that pays for itself in the fuel it saves

NOW is the time to install ARCOLA

If you are planning to cast out the unsatisfactory coal stove or the old furnace in favor of a modern heating plant, let us figure with you on an ARCOLA Hot Water Heating System now.

ARCOLA Hot Water Heating Systems cost less today than ever before and we can install them more cheaply now than during the rush season.

Here are approximate prices for average homes, installed ready for use:

3 rooms.....	$185
4 rooms.....	$250
5 rooms.....	$310
6 rooms.....	$375

Come in and learn exactly how cheaply you can have hot water heat in your home with its healthful, even warmth and big fuel saving. Ask us for your estimate today.
